

BJA Member, Harriet Kelsall Jewellery Design achieves certification from the Responsible Jewellery Council

4 November 2011

HARRIET KELSALL BESPOKE JEWELLERY

Harriet Kelsall Jewellery Design has achieved certification from the Responsible Jewellery Council.

As the first independent jeweller to have achieved this, Harriet Kelsall hopes that others will follow her lead and with help from the BJA she envisages that the process will now become more accessible to small businesses within the industry.

Harriet adds "We are proud to have achieved certification as part of our overall ethical strategy and have found the benefits to the company tremendous. I would urge others to now contact the BJA to show interest in doing the same."

