

Shop award for jewellery designer

HARRIET Kelsall Jewellery Design, which has its flagship studio in Halls Green near Weston, has won the UK Jewellery Award for Business Initiative of the Year 2011.

Harriet Kelsall received the award as a result of the re-design of its Cambridge studio in the heart of the city.

Harriet Kelsall, managing director, said, 'I was delighted to have even been shortlisted so to have won this award is a real honour.'

By overhauling the design and layout of one of its studios, the company has brought proper bespoke jewellery directly to the High Street. Harriet added, 'It's wonderful that our efforts in making bespoke jewellery accessible have been recognised by such a prestigious industry award and I feel really proud that we've been instrumental in bringing bespoke jewellery design to the High Street.'
