

Client: Lindsay Ephgrave PR
Source: Style Magazine (Main)
Date: 01 September 2011
Page: 104
Reach: 12364
Size: 137cm2
Value: 400.04

---

JEWELLER SPARKLES AT AWARDS

Bespoke jewellery designer Harriet Kelsall clearly dazzled judges when she won UK Business Initiative of the Year at the UK Jewellery Awards. Harriet, who has a store on Green Street, Cambridge, picked up her accolade at London's Grosvenor House, in recognition of the recent redesign of her Cambridge studio. "It's wonderful that our efforts in making bespoke jewellery accessible have been recognised by such a prestigious industry award and I feel really proud that we've been instrumental in bringing bespoke jewellery design to the High Street," Harriet tells Style.

The store was re-opened in February by MP Andrew Lansley following an interior design makeover by retail consultant Callum Lumsden, who worked with Mary Portas on her BBC2 series Mary, Queen of Shops and Channel 4 series Secret Shopper.

Dennis from Chaos Jewellery, who presented the award, Lisa Snowdon, Simon Gibbons (general manager), Harriet Kelsall, Kerrie-Ann McNaughton (designer), Teddy Marshall (project assistant), and Michelle Waters (design assistant)